Johnson Is Player of the Week

Dripping Springs senior quarterback Reese Johnson is the Week 9 winner of the Mr. Texas Football Player of the Week Award. The 5-9, 165-pound senior threw for 255 yards and four touchdowns and ran for 231 yards and three touchdowns in the Tigers' 64-54 win over Alamo Heights, Oct. 21.

Reese was one of 10 nominees from across the state for the week's award. The fans played a part in this honor, as it was determined by a voting poll on TexasFootball.com. The award is presented by Wells Fargo in conjunction with the Advocare V100 Texas Bowl.

The Tigers, who are 7-1 overall and 4-1 in district play, have secured a spot in bi-district playoffs.
