OPPORTUNITY FOR INPUT ON DSHS PRINCIPAL HIRING

Dripping Springs ISD will hold a meeting to collect input to district leaders about the high school principal position on Thursday, Jan. 24, at 6:00 p.m. in the DSHS Lecture Hall. Parents are invited to attend and provide comments about what qualities the district should seek in a candidate for the position.

Current Principal Joe Burns announced in November he will be retiring at the end of the school year. The position currently is posted on the district website and the process to interview and hire a new principal will occur over the next few months.

For those who cannot attend and would like to provide input, an online form is available as well. High School faculty previously had the opportunity to meet with Superintendent Bruce Gearing to share input, and also may attend this meeting or submit input online.
