DRIPPING SPRINGS ISD TO LAUNCH NEW WEBSITE

DRIPPING SPRINGS, Texas—Dripping Springs ISD is introducing a fresh, new, easy-to-use website the weekend of July 22, 2017. In addition, all seven campuses will have new sites. These new websites will be easier to navigate and keep parents and community better informed about the news and events in DSISD schools. New websites have been optimized to access from smartphones or tablets, meaning users can get the information they need on the go.

The features and content of the site is very similar to the district’s current site. The location of some items may be different so please be patient when connecting the first few times. Overall, the goal was to make the navigation more logical and cleaner than it was. Remember that the “Search” button can help locate information. Also, please note the icons at the bottom of the photo on the district and campus home pages; these icons represent some of the more commonly requested information for quick access.

The site is expected to launch the last weekend in July. During the transition, it may be unavailable for a few hours, most likely on July 22. The web address will remain as "www.dsisdtx.us" and all schools have extensions that follow:
