DSISD STUDENTS HONORED AT STOCK SHOW

Dripping Springs ISD students of all ages representing FFA and 4-H were recognized at the 2018 Hays County Stock Show. Students showed animals they had raised, and also entered their work in categories like Ag Mechanics and Arts/Crafts/Clothing.

Ten DSISD students earned either Grand Champion or Reserve Grand Champion in their events, and many others were recognized as Breed Champions. Grand Champions were Kelsey Tovar (Junior Foods), Hager Peel (Intermediate Arts/Crafts/Clothing), Madison LeBaron (Market Steers), Rylee Oldham (Breeding Cattle), Kyle Herron (Breeding Goats), and Kassandra Sawin (Breeding Rabbits). Reserve Grand Champions were Cameron Wilson (Senior Arts/Crafts/Clothing), Drew Wilson (Senior Photography), Kyle Herron (Market Goats) and Carly Norton (Market Swine). Some students will go on to other stock shows around the state to show their animals.

All 44 Dripping Springs High School students who participated in the show qualified for the sale, more than any other high school in Hays County.
